

Name: Luna Bellaris

Race: Sylph

Place of Birth: The Sylphid Realm

Height: 5.5

Gender: Female

Age: 1302

Appearance:

- Hair: Long Dark Brown Hair
- Eye Colour: Green
- Skin Tone: Fair
- Clothes: Luna wears light armour so that she can move around easily. She wears flexible under clothes because she doesn't want to feel confined in robes or dresses.
- Weapons: Luna wields 2 swords/ daggers. Her backup weapons are a Bow and a Staff (she hides the Staff in a magical realm since she can't fit a Staff and a Bow on her back).

Traits: She is very wary when it comes to outsiders. Although her half of the Sylphid have lived in our realm for a millennium, she still doesn't want to get involved. She is very kind-hearted and her love for her people is unparalleled, she would never want to put them in danger. She loves animals and can easily commune with them. She has a way with charming animals. She doesn't like wars in fear of harming any life, but she has heard whispers of what lies behind the closed doors of the tyranny, and this makes her concerned for her people. She is slow to trust outsiders.

Background: Luna grew up with her younger brother Theran, and when her parents abdicated, the people of the Sylphid chose her as their successor. Although she wasn't keen on the idea of leading her people, she took up the mantle anyway. Luna and Theran have always been close, even though Theran can be brash at times and acts as if he doesn't care. Before she became Empress, she befriended Aurelia, a noble girl. They trained together, explored the lands together and were inseparable and still are. They have and will always remain best friends. Aurelia has been her closest advisor since the Realm between Realms incident.
